CollPlant Biotechnologies (NASDAQ/CLGN)

May 25, 2021

BUY: Moves Up to the NASDAQ

CollPlant announced that its ordinary shares have been approved for trading on the Nasdaq Global Market with the same ticker, "CLGN," and will begin trading at the open of market on June 4, 2021. At such time, the Company's American Depositary Shares (ADSs) will be mandatorily cancelled and exchanged for ordinary shares at a one-for-one ratio. Shareholders holding their ADSs in book-entry or through a bank, broker or other nominee form do not need to take any action in connection with the mandatory exchange.

Investment Highlights

Aesthetics: Recall that CollPlant entered into a worldwide exclusive development and commercialization agreement for dermal and soft tissue filler products with Allergan Aesthetics, an AbbVie company (ABBV – Not Rated). The partners pick up worldwide exclusivity to use its plant-derived recombinant human collagen (rhCollagen) in combination with Allergan Aesthetics's proprietary technologies for the production and commercialization of dermal and soft tissue fillers. In addition, Allergan Aesthetics has the right of first negotiation for CollPlant's technology in two future additional products. CollPlant receives an upfront payment of $14M and is entitled to receive up to an additional $89M in milestone payments. In addition, CollPlant is eligible to receive royalty payments and a fee for the manufacture and supply of rhCollagen to Allergan Aesthetics.

The Best Collagen on the Market, in Our View. CollPlant differentiates itself through its tobacco-based rhCollagen production platform, which is currently the only commercially viable plant-derived human collagen on the market. The type 1 collagen, which is being used in the medicinal field, is primarily extracted from cows, pigs, and human cadavers and comes with several disadvantages. The process required to recycle collagen from mature tissue cells comes with an inherent risk of mutations in its protein structure. Extraction from animal or human tissue is also associated with the risk of disease transmission. Tissue-derived collagen has a low homogeneity profile, leading to lower efficacy of regeneration and the possibility of inflammatory responses from foreign body responses. One of CollPlant's goals with its rhCollagen production platform is to overcome these issues, delivering an unlimited capacity of a pure (and safe) product.

Valuation: Our price target is $20.00 per share. Please see our detailed valuation models for more information.

Modeling Assumptions:

1. We assume Vergenix STR and Vergenix FG achieve only modest European market share penetration. This is a result of the limited capital supporting the launch. The data, thus far, has been quite good on the associated outcomes with the products. In addition to our modest market share assumptions, we assume only a 30% probability of success that the full revenue potential of the products is realized. We do this for conservatism.
2. BioInk – United Therapeutics. We previously removed this from our models (set the probability of success at zero).
3. Aesthetic Medicine. The size of this market is large, blockbuster size (billions). We see CollPlant's rhCollagen as a more ideal dermal filler and as a product scaffold for a variety of new applications from rejuvenation to breast reconstruction. Here too, our assumptions for pricing and market share may be too conservative. Our probability of success assigned is highest here, at 90%, as we feel the pathway is well defined.

Valuation: We model CollPlant's rhCollagen technology platform focused on the aesthetics and advanced wound care markets. We use varying probabilities for each indication ranging from just 30% to 90% that our sales goals can be achieved. The models then flow into our income statement, which is projected out to 2030. On top of these therapeutic success probabilities, we apply a discount rate (r) of 30% (our highest rate for emerging growth companies), and we assume additional capital raises (dilution) in our final share count. We then apply these projections into our Free Cash Flow, discounted EPS and Sum of the Parts models below and round to the nearest whole number to derive our 12-month price target.

Risk Analysis

Clinical Trial Risk. CollPlant and its partners may be dependent on the outcome of product-based clinical trials.

Partnership risk. CollPlant may seek partnerships for clinical development support and commercialization. There can be no assurances that the company will be able to secure favorable partnerships.

Commercial Risk. CollPlant hopes to compete in multiple healthcare-related markets that have traditionally been dominated by large pharma and biotechnology companies with deep pockets (funding and resources), which may make it difficult for CollPlant to compete unless the molecule is deemed to be truly differentiated.

Financial Risk. CollPlant is likely to require additional capital raises before the company can be self-sustaining. There can be no guarantees that the company will be able to raise the needed capital.

Investment Risk. CollPlant is a small capital company, which can translate into high volatility and risk for investors. The company has no revenues and is dependent on clinical progress of its therapeutics.

Intellectual Property. CollPlant may face IP challenges, forcing the company to defend its patents or claiming the company is infringing on other patents.

Market Share Risk. The collagen and related products market are competitive and tend to be dominated by large pharma and biotechnology and/or medical device companies.

Regulatory Risk. CollPlant, even with good clinical data, could face extensive delays and other regulatory setbacks.
